Grade Appeals and Student Complaints

Should a student have a grievance which is academic in nature (i.e. with a particular faculty member regarding a certain course, etc.), the student should complete a Methodist University Academic Grievance Form and it must be submitted before the end of the next semester, excluding the summer semester. Forms can be obtained from the Registrar's Office. Once the grievance form is completed by the student, it should be submitted to the faculty member involved, and the student and faculty member should meet to resolve the issue. If no resolution of the issue can be made at this stage, the student should meet with the faculty member's immediate supervisor(s). If a supervisor reverses a faculty member's decision, the change must be approved by the Executive Vice President and Academic Dean. If these conferences do not satisfactorily resolve the issue, the student may request a hearing with the Academic Standards Committee. Students having questions regarding the Academic Grievance Procedure should contact the Office of the Executive Vice President and Academic Dean. If the complaint cannot be resolved after exhausting Methodist University's grievance procedure, the student may file a complaint with either the Consumer Affairs Division part of the North Carolina Department of Justice, or the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC), which is the regional accrediting body of Methodist University.
